FATHER'S FOCUS

Lent?!

Do you remember that old Looney Tunes cartoon with Frisky the puppy and Claude the house cat? It is the one where Claude, a yellow cat with a red-tipped tail, would be walking through the house minding his own business. Then, out of nowhere, Frisky the puppy would come up behind Him and start barking, "Yipe, yipe, yipe, yipe, yipe!!" Claude would get so scared that he would launch himself into the air and bury his claws into the ceiling. Then, after Frisky trotted away, the cat, with a perturbed look on his face, would peel his claws out of the ceiling one-by-one to the sound of, "Boink, boink, boink, boink ...". Hillarious! If you haven't seen it, Google it. I watched one just before writing this and it still makes me belly-laugh to the point of tears.

Well, that image comes to mind when I think of Lent just being a few days away. Like Claude the cat being startled by Frisky the puppy, we may be surprised and caught off guard by the sudden arrival of this season. "Lent?!" Lent has come quickly upon the heels of Christmas. But as the Scripture says, we cannot "let this day catch us off guard."

Lent, even though it is a penitential season, is an awesome time for renewal and rekindling of the fire of devotion. This bulletin outlines several opportunities this Lent for such a renewal.

Parish Mini-Mission (Feb. 12, 6:30–8:30 p.m.)

"Always at the Beginning" by Fr. Chad Arnold will focus on a mature attitude of spiritual growth and steps for success.

God Squad (Sun., Mon, Tue, Thurs., Fri. during Lent)

A spiritual training program that operates much like a sports season but is focused on the spiritual skill rather than athletic skill. We will be focusing on the book Soul of the Apostolate, devotional prayers, and night prayer.

Parish Prayer & Bible Groups

We have several prayer groups and bible groups in our parish. Our parish office would love to help guide you through our many great options! You can also look them up on our website under MINISTRIES -> COMPREHENSIVE LIST. If you find one to join, don't hesitate to reach out and get plugged in.

FORMED

FORMED is an online Catholic educational and entertainment video streaming platform that is open to all our parishioners. It also offers books, CDs, and classes concerning Catholic teaching and formation. I suggest finding fellow parishioners and meeting once a week in someone's house to watch one of the series. It is a great way to form yourself in the faith, as well as build your sense of community.

So, this Lent don't be startled like Claude the cat, because it so quickly approaches. Rather, get a plan in place for an awesome Lent. Do not hesitate to participate in one of these opportunities for faith formation we will have on our parish campus.

STEWARDSHIP IN ACTION

A STEWARDSHIP MINUTE: USHERS

Have you ever had a moment when something you take for granted, kind of hits you in the face like a ton of bricks? Well, I had one of those moments when Father Jarrod and Jim McAnarney were conducting usher training in the Church on a recent Tuesday night.

There were over 60 ushers there for training! They were all shuffling about trying to learn where all their supplies and tools were located within the new space. They were helping each other, asking questions so that all would know, and generally working together, preparing to support the priests, the parish, each other, and the job of our Lord; executing hospitality in all that they do.

There were no egos or agendas, just a group of individuals that were looking to make sure they were prepared to, "do their job".

I would humbly ask you to thank an usher this weekend as you attend Mass. They are there for you and I and often the first line of what Jesus means to all of us, through their hospitality and service.

God Bless you representatives of the Stewardship Way of Life. Thank you for all that you do, even when we take those efforts for granted.

Your care of us in hospitality and service is appreciated!

-Stu Meether, Dir. of Stewardship and Parish Life

GOD CALLS US ALL TO THE FREEDOM OF CHASTITY

Due to various historical factors, some attitudes have given rise to idea that “chastity” is a burden, a prohibition of freedoms, or a tether of suppression. This, however, is the furthest definition from God’s true intentions for chastity. We are ALL called to live out the virtue of chastity – whether one is single, married, belonging to a religious order, or the ordained priesthood. What is it and why is God’s true intention not suppression, but rather FREEDOM?

WHAT IS CHASTITY?

First, chastity is not the same as celibacy. Chastity is more than just abstaining from sexual activity outside of marriage. The sexual act should always be reserved for the marital union, as it brings forth unitive and procreative fruit that blesses the marriage. Chastity is a positive virtue that involves the integration of one’s sexuality within the perimeters of love, self-giving, and respect for the dignity of oneself and others.

Chastity involves purity of heart and intention, as well as a commitment to living according to the truth of one’s identity as a beloved child of God. Chastity involves self-mastery and self-giving authentic love, whether in marriage or celibacy. It involves selflessness, commitment, and a deep respect for the dignity of every person.

I keep coming back to the beauty of stewardship. Our bodies are not our own. My mom always reminded us that our bodies are the temple of the Holy Spirit. This image came alive to me when visiting the Holy Land and seeing the Holy Sepulcher in Jerusalem. Inside the holy walls is a great building where you can visit the holy tomb. You can climb stairs and reach out your hand to touch the spot where the cross was on Calvary. You can touch the anointing stone. You can stand where Mary and the other women wept. The sacredness is palpable. To preserve the integrity and safety of these sacred spaces, the door is locked every night in a door-closing ceremony.

This is how I envision chastity and how we must protect ourselves and others – protecting what is sacred in the gift of our sexuality both for ourselves in not using our own bodies in selfish ways, but also not looking upon others as objects of sexual desire. We are living in an age where we see sexual exploitation everywhere. Media entices both men and women to believe that seduction is the way to another’s heart.

The stewardship of our senses is a tall order in today’s world. We are continually bombarded with sexual images. We don’t even have to look for them. Pornography is an attack against chastity, and it has far-reaching effects. For some people, the impact of seeing graphic images may be short-lived, and they may be able to recover relatively quickly with appropriate coping strategies and support. Others may experience more profound and long-lasting effects, such as symptoms of trauma, anxiety or depression, which may require professional help and a longer period of healing. Pornography reduces the one viewing it to using other people for their own selfish pleasure. It reduces the person on the screen to be just an object of someone else’s lust. Any acts of selfish sexual pleasure follow this same cycle – user and the one being used.

CHASTITY OFFERS FREEDOM

Second, chastity protects sexuality as a true gift; it offers freedom because there are no regrets. With chastity, one is pursuing a mastery of self and aligning one's will to God's will. Living a chaste life honors God's intentions for the body and protects others and ourselves to be free from regret and shame. I was assigned to read Theology of the Body in one of my college classes. I must have read it three times, but it was because I would read a paragraph and then have to read it two more times because I really didn't understand it. The words of St. John Paul the Great were beautiful and like nothing I've ever read. It spoke of the beauty and mystery of men and women and the freedom of the stewardship of the body and soul – to love our brothers and sisters in Christ so much that we would never want to do anything to objectify them or view them in ways that aren't of a pure heart.

There is true freedom with looking upon each other with pure eyes and love. If you are finding yourself in a position where you can't get out of the cycle of pornography or perhaps you might be in a selfish relationship, there are some great resources. Books by Matt Fradd speak on breaking the cycle of pornography. The Chastity Project with Jason and Crystalina Evert has wonderful resources for all states of life, young and old. Cognitive behavior therapies have really helped people as well.

I remember hearing a story about Fr. Benedict Groeschel, who was a well-known speaker. Whenever he checked into a hotel, he would ask the front desk to turn off the cable in his room because he didn't want to have that temptation. He knew the enemy, and he chose to protect himself in that way. Matt Fradd gave an example of a young man who was tempted by a seductive billboard on his way to work. He chose to go another way and protect himself from that temptation. We need to know the enemy, and we need to know ourselves so that we can live life with true freedom.

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." Philippians 4:8:
